

MORGRIDGE CENTER FOR PUBLIC SERVICE VOLUNTEER TRANSPORTATION PROGRAM

What is it?

The Volunteer Transportation Program is a service courtesy of the Morgridge Center for Public Service that provides free cab rides to students who volunteer at least eight times during the semester. This program is designed to support students who would like to volunteer on a regular basis, but can't because of transportation limitations, as well as agencies that are unreachable by bus.

Am I eligible for this program?

To use this program, a student must agree to the following:

- Be a UW-Madison student,
- Volunteer at least 8 times with the same agency in one semester,
- Attend a Volunteer Transportation Program Orientation before you can use this service,
- Students who have a paid or work-study position at a non-profit agency are not eligible.

What non-profit agencies are available?

A list of eligible sites is listed on our website. Currently there are over 120 different qualifying non-profit agency and school locations. Essentially, the agency must be located off a bus route or located past a bus transfer point.

How do I sign up?

1. Students interested in using this program must first attend a Volunteer Transportation Orientation held in the Morgridge Center, Red Gym Room 154 each Wednesday at 5pm and Friday at 3pm.
2. After the orientation, each student will schedule their own rides using our online request form.
3. Rides must be scheduled at least two business days ahead of the ride by 11:59pm. For example, if you need a ride for Monday, September 10, you need to submit your request before 11:59pm. on Thursday, September 6. However, you cannot schedule a ride more than five days ahead of time.
4. Rides can be scheduled for any day of the week, but only at an interval of 15 minutes. For example rides can be scheduled at 1:00, 1:15, 1:30 or 1:45.
5. All students wishing to use this service during the Spring 2009 semester must attend an orientation and schedule their first ride by March 13, 2009.
